

Please Join Us for a Discussion of Justice on Earth: People of Faith Working at the Intersections of Race, Class, and the Environment, co-edited by Rev. Manish Mishra-Marzetti

Sunday, November 11, 2018
1:00-3:00 PM, Fahs Chapel

Co-sponsored by UUA Climate Change and Challenging Racism faith-in-action groups

Special Guest: Aly Tharp, Program Director at the UU Ministry for Earth

Aly has been with UUMFE since 2014, initially serving as the coordinator for the UU Young Adults for Climate Justice. Aly managed the Unitarian Universalist climate justice campaign "Commit2Respond" from 2016 to its end in 2017 and continues to play an active role in supporting and developing denomination-wide climate and environmental justice ministries. Aly lives in Austin, Texas, and in their free time is an arts-activist and community organizer primarily supporting Gulf South climate justice movements and a permaculture food forest on public parkland in the heart of Austin. Find out more about Aly's work at UUMFE.org.

Books are available at QUUest or on Kindle from Amazon

Register at QUUest and Social Action tables

Email: Lucia Heinold, heinoldcia@aol.com

Phone: 734-996-2796

A Message from The Climate Change Faith-in-Action Committee

We have a moral, ethical, and survival imperative to learn about climate change / global warming, and to act appropriately and decisively.

This imperative derives from people living today and all those who will follow us.

We must not have future generations say of us: "They refused to learn," or "they knew but did not act."

"Those who have the privilege to know have the duty to act."

(A. Einstein)

For an incredible source of Climate Change materials go to THE CLIMATE PORTAL at climate.uu-uno.org

Tom Bauld, Chair, UUA Climate Change Faith-in-Action Committee